Taren Point Hotel Relaunch

Taren Point Hotel is currently undergoing a complete re-branding and renovation. H and E Architects who have worked with The Feros Group on The Prince Hotel, Highfield, Ugly Pizza and Huxley's are overseeing a complete overall of the space with the brief to deliver a really casual and bright overhaul of every space in the pub.

When asked about the venue, owner Chris Feros smiled. Our vision for The Pub is simply to have a heap of fun! The outdoor areas are going to be awesome with festoon lights, pops of colour, bright graffiti walls and food truck and an amazing new laneway space for kids and adults".

The renovation will feature a brand-new sports bar, lounge Bar, bistro, multiple function spaces, a renovated beer garden and amazing new laneway. Featuring two children's play areas, a food truck, Carlton Draught tank beer delivered straight from the brewery and more screens throughout the venue for sports viewing.

Coinciding with the relaunch is a new bistro menu. Paul Pirreca, Feros Group Executive Chef, says that his inspiration has come broadly from the evolution of food in the Sydney pub scene over the last 20 years, giving a nod to the simple, nostalgic and homestyle meals and pub classics. The menu will feature all the favourites; Huge schnitzys, a great burger range, fish & chips, steaks & pizzas and as well as broad selection of healthy options.

The pub will also offer a second food option with a modern take on kebabs, salads and plates from a food truck in the outdoor courtyard. "The concept for Good Time Kebabs comes from homestyle BBQs with barbequed meat, healthy salads, flatbread and some killer dips and sauces. There will be both traditional kebabs and modern plates with three types of meats to choose from served with the classic trimmings. The Feros team visited some awesome venues in Melbourne and Brisbane and fell in love with the food truck concept and Taren Point was the first opportunity to introduce one of these into their venues.

The revamped sports bar, TAB and sports terrace have been completed as part of stage one and are now open to the public.

The new bistro, lounge bar, beer garden, laneway and new food truck are set to open on the 5th of December with Richard Clapton launching their new program of great Australian music on Friday the 7th of December.
